

2017 GRANT GUIDELINES

OVERVIEW

Below, please find an introduction to the Digital Literacy Alliance (“the Alliance” or “DLA”), and an invitation to apply to funding to support critical digital literacy work in the City of Philadelphia.

The Digital Literacy Alliance is a broad coalition of institutional stakeholders working to alleviate the digital divide in Philadelphia. The coalition develops strategy, manages an existing seed fund, raises additional funding and oversees funded programs with the assistance of relevant stakeholders and committee members.

The goals of the Alliance are:

- To provide financial support to programs in Philadelphia that work to address issues of digital literacy and inclusion
- To serve as a convener of stakeholders and partners from diverse sectors who are invested and interested in closing the digital divide in Philadelphia
- To be a resource for best practices and innovations in digital literacy programming and policy-making

As of January 2017, the Digital Literacy Alliance has a seed fund of $850,000, comprised of a $500,000 grant from Comcast and a $350,000 grant from Verizon (The Verizon portion has been earmarked for youth programming.). The Alliance plans to leverage this existing money to raise additional funds for future grant opportunities.

For the purpose of this application, the Alliance defines digital literacy as, “the ability to access technology and the Internet and use those tools to find, evaluate, share and create content.”

In an effort to create a transparent and ethical process, the Alliance has laid out the grant guidelines below.
